We understand that you are aware of and care about your own personal privacy interests and we take that seriously. This Privacy Notice describes Hydro's policies and practices regarding its collection and use of your personal data and sets forth your privacy rights. We recognize that information privacy is an ongoing responsibility, and so we will from time to time update this Privacy Notice as we undertake new personal data practices or adopt new privacy policies.

We do not knowingly attempt to solicit or receive information from children.

Data Protection Officer

HYDRO is headquartered in Salt Lake City Utah, in the United States. HYDRO has appointed an internal data protection officer for you to contact if you have any questions about our personal data policies or practices. You may complete the information request form that is linked to the Data Protection Information button or by mail or phone as listed on our website contact page.

How we collect and use (process) your personal information

1. Personal information you give to us:

To obtain product quotations or to purchase product from us we collect information about you including (but not limited to) your name, your employer's name, your work address (including your country location), and your email address. We may also collect your personal email address, a personal mailing address, and a mobile phone number.

We use this information to help us understand our customers' needs and interests to better tailor our products and services to meet your needs.

1. Live events and web conferences

Hydro participates in conferences and trade shows.

Hydro hosts or presents at many events throughout the year. If you register for one of these events and you are a customer or you work for a customer, we will access the information in the customer account to provide you with information and services associated with the event. If you are not a customer and you register for one of the events, we will collect your name and contact information, which we will store in our database(s) and use to provide you with information and services associated with the event.

We keep a record of your participation in Hydro events as an attendee or presenter. This information may be used to provide you with product information or to tell you about other events and publications. It may also be used to help Hydro understand our customer's needs and interests to better tailor our products and services to meet your needs.

Some of our events are sponsored. The sponsor may provide an attendee list to Hydro. Hydro may send you material by mail or email. If you do not wish to have your information included in an attendee list held by Hydro please contact us.

2. Linked URLs & Analytics

Hydro offers a great deal of content for our customers. In addition to producing original content, Hydro also subscribes to news feeds and blogs produced by others which we often link to from our website. This means you may find yourself on Hydro's website or reading an email from the Hydro publications team and we will offer you a link to another organization's website where you will find content on products or services that may be relevant and useful to you. At these times, you will be leaving the Hydro website. Hydro is not responsible or liable for content provided by these third-party websites or personal information they may happen to gather from you.

Hydro uses Google Analytics to track how often people gain access to or read our content. We use this information in the aggregate to understand what content our visitors and customers find useful or interesting, so we can produce the most valuable content to meet customer needs.

We do not track individuals but look at information in the aggregate only. Participation in surveys is voluntary.

3. Your correspondence with Hydro

If you correspond with us by email, the postal service, or other form of communication, we may retain such correspondence and the information contained in it and use it to respond to your inquiry; to notify you of Hydro conferences, publications, or other services; or to keep a record of your complaint, accommodation request, and the like. As always, if you wish to have Hydro "erase" your personal information or otherwise refrain from communicating with you, please contact us.

Note: if you ask Hydro not to contact you by email at a certain email address, Hydro will retain a copy of that email address on its "master do not send" list in order to comply with your no-contact request.

4. Purposes for processing your data

As explained above, Hydro processes your data to provide you with the goods or services you have requested or purchased from us. We use this information to refine our goods and services to better tailor them to your needs and to communicate with you about other services Hydro offers that may be of interest to you.

5. Payment card information

You may choose to purchase goods or services from Hydro using a payment card. Typically, payment card information is provided directly by users, via the Hydro website, into the PCI/DSScompliant payment processing service to which Hydro subscribes. Hydro does not process or store the card information. Occasionally, customers ask Hydro employees to enter payment card information into the PCI/DSS-compliant payment processing service to which Hydro subscribes. We strongly encourage you not to submit this information by email. When Hydro employees receive payment card information from customers by email, fax, phone, or mail, it is entered as instructed and then deleted or destroyed.

2. What happens if you don't give us your data

You can enjoy many of the Hydro services without giving us your personal data. Much of the information on our website is available even to those who are not Hydro customers. Some personal information is necessary so that Hydro can supply you with product support or for the services you have purchased or requested, and to authenticate you so that we know it is you and not someone else. You may opt-out of receiving marketing communication at any time.

These cookies may be delivered in a first-party or third-party context. Hydro may also use cookies and web beacons in association with e-mails delivered by Hydro. Our Site also captures limited information (user-agent, HTTP referrer, last URL requested by the user, client-side and server-side clickstream) about visits to our Site; we may use this information to analyze general traffic patterns and to perform routine system maintenance. You have many choices with regards to the management of cookies on your computer. All major browsers allow you to block or delete cookies from your system. for website operators and providing other services relating to website activity and internet usage. Google may also transfer this information to third parties where required to do so by law, or where such third parties process the information on Google's behalf. You may refuse the use of cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser. If you do this you may not be able to use the full functionality of this website. By using the Hydro website, you consent to the processing of data about you by Google in the manner and for the purposes set out above.

We use this information to evaluate the effectiveness of our marketing campaigns. You may set your browser to block these cookies.

- Do not track

Hydro tracks users when they cross from our primary public website to our store front by logging in with their user name and password. Hydro does not track its customers when they cross to third party websites, does not provide targeted advertising to them, and therefore does not respond to Do Not Track (DNT) signals.

When and how we share information with others

Transferring personal data from the European Union to the United States

Hydro has its headquarters in the United States. Information we collect from you will be processed in the United States. The United States has not sought nor received a finding of “adequacy” from the European Union under Article 45 of the GDPR. Hydro relies on derogations for specific situations as set forth in Article 49 of the GDPR. In particular, Hydro collects and transfers to the U.S. personal data only: with your consent; to perform a contract with you; or to fulfill a compelling legitimate interest of Hydro in a manner that does not outweigh your rights and freedoms. Hydro endeavors to apply suitable safeguards to protect the privacy and security of your personal data and to use it only consistent with your relationship with Hydro and the practices described in this Privacy Notice. Hydro also minimizes the risk to your rights and freedoms by not collecting or storing sensitive information about you.

If you wish to confirm that Hydro is processing your personal data, or to have access to the personal data Hydro may have about you, please contact us.

You may also request information about: the purpose of the processing; the categories of personal data concerned; who else outside Hydro might have received the data from Hydro; what the source of the information was (if you didn’t provide it directly to Hydro); and how long it will be stored. You have a right to correct (rectify) the record of your personal data maintained by Hydro if it is inaccurate. You may request that Hydro erase that data or cease processing it, subject to certain exceptions. You may also request that Hydro cease using your data for direct marketing purposes. In many countries, you have a right to lodge a complaint with the appropriate data protection authority if you have concerns about how Hydro processes your personal data. When technically feasible, Hydro will—at your request—provide your personal data to you or transmit it directly to another controller.

Reasonable access to your personal data will be provided at no cost to you upon request. If access cannot be provided within a reasonable time frame, Hydro will provide you with a date when the information will be provided. If for some reason access is denied, Hydro will provide an explanation as to why access has been denied.

Security of your information

To help protect the privacy of data and personally identifiable information you transmit through use of this Site, we maintain physical, technical and administrative safeguards. We update and test our security technology on an ongoing basis. We restrict access to your personal data to those employees who need to know that information to provide products or services to you. In addition, we train our employees about the importance of confidentiality and maintaining the privacy and security of your information. We commit to taking appropriate disciplinary measures to enforce our employees' privacy responsibilities.
